Tequila Connors is a poet whose work has been praised for its raw emotion, lyrical beauty, and unflinching honesty. Her poems have been published in numerous literary journals and anthologies, and she has performed her work at venues across the country. Connors' work is often deeply personal, drawing on her own experiences of love, loss, and self-discovery. Through her poetry, she explores the complexities of human emotion and the ways in which we connect to one another.

Love Is Air

One of Connors' most celebrated poems is "Love Is Air." The poem is a meditation on the nature of love, and how it can both sustain and suffocate us. Connors writes of love as a "force that drives us forward," but also a "weight that can crush us." She explores the ways in which love can make us feel both whole and broken, and how it can both save us and destroy us.

The poem is full of vivid imagery and powerful metaphors, and Connors' use of language is both precise and evocative. She writes of love as "a bird that sings in our chest," and as "a fire that burns in our belly." These images serve to capture the complex and often contradictory nature of love. It is a force that can both uplift and destroy us, and Connors' poem explores the full range of human emotion that love can evoke.

"Love Is Air" by Tequila Connors

love is air

we breathe it in

and we breathe it out

it fills us up

and it empties us

it gives us life

and it takes it away

it's the first thing we feel

when we're born

and it's the last thing we feel

when we die

it's the one thing

that we can never live without

and the one thing

that we can never escape

love is air

it's everywhere

and it's nowhere

it's the most precious thing in the world

and it's the most dangerous
