The film follows the stories of three women who have been affected by war in different ways. Anya (Ana Ularu) is a young woman who was forced to flee her home in Ukraine after it was invaded by Russia. She now lives in a refugee camp in Poland, struggling to come to terms with the loss of her family and friends.

Maria (Marina Kiskinova) is a nurse who worked in a hospital in Syria during the country's civil war. She witnessed firsthand the horrors of war and the devastating impact it had on the people of her country. Now living in the United Kingdom, Maria is haunted by the memories of what she saw and experienced.

Kate (Christina Cole) is a British journalist who has covered wars all over the world. She has seen the worst of humanity and the devastating impact that war can have on people's lives. Kate is now struggling with PTSD and is trying to find a way to come to terms with her experiences.
